

Summarized customer notes

Customer check-ins: March 1, 2022

- Customer comments on the team's low-fidelity prototypes:
 - o I love the idea of using the title "Your critical concerns" for the opinion poll since it avoids being competitive. It can help to show the concerns of Saskatchewan people about SDGs.
 - o I like the option of searching by keywords.
 - o I love the idea of displaying statistics, such as:
 - The number of team members
 - The number of awards
 - The number of projects
 - The number of volunteers
 - o I like the project details pop-up, it is clean, organized and you got a quick overview.
 - o I like the idea of "List view" and "Map view"
 - o Calendar is not really that crucial, we want to focus on the projects.
- General comments of customer:
 - o I like the idea of a little heart beside projects that users can show they like certain projects and they can refer to those projects later.
 - o We do not need the events listing and calendar.
- Instructor comments on the team's low-fidelity prototypes:
 - o I really like the idea of "Your critical concerns".
 - o Think about your tabular format and how it would look on mobile devices.
- General comments of the instructor:
 - o For the map, it's a better idea to focus on the 4-5 regions on the Saskatchewan map instead of the cities. Because using cities can lead to competition.
 - o You can keep the fewer priority features in release version two or three.
